

My wife and I and our three kids moved to Eagle Mountain because we liked the family atmosphere, the rural feel and traditions that were in place. I have served in the communities where I have lived since I was 22. I coached little league football, recreation and competition soccer for about 15 years. I coached high school football for 1.5 years before the commute became too much of a burden. I have worked in a variety of industries from as early as a teenager in the murray city youth programs, park maintenance, long term care pharmacy and medical supply, residential and commercial construction and now real estate. Every job I have ever had was service oriented. I have served in many capacities within my church and dedicated much of my free time in those capacities. I have always served the youth in the communities that I have lived in and felt I wanted to do more . The last two years I have been serving on the planning commission in Eagle Mountain. I am proud of what we have accomplished as a commission in that time. I look forward to a much broader role as a city councilman.
