My wife Kim and I moved with our kids in search of peace, quiet and a safe community filled with families like ours, and a slower paced lifestyle. Eagle Mountain is that place. It's worth preserving and protecting.

Accountability

Accountability is the core of trust between government and the citizens.

Elected officials and employees of the city must conduct their decisions and actions according to the written law

Regional Connectivity

Design and build MidValley Highway and connect to Mountain view corridor in Saratoga Springs

Build a coalition with other neighboring cities

Responsible Growth

All phases of life housing is needed.

Leadership is required to prevent market manipulation masked as housing affordability.

Use current zoning code to improve the quality, appearance and usability of residential property.

Balanced housing types create community stability long term.

Citizen Engagement

We need to communicate with citizens using all communication methods not just Social Media

We need to utilize our citizen boards. We need to seek out the best and most qualified, then give them a purpose and support of the Council.

Proactive Economic Growth

This requires building relationships with economic partners that will help us secure the most desirable businesses while balancing the needed taxable revenue.

Craig created the slogan "Eagle Mountain First" because of his firm belief that Eagle Mountain City can become citizens' 1st residence of choice in Utah County. Please take time to thoroughly read through Craig's plans & viewpoints on his website at electcraigwhiting.com.

ANGELINE WASHBURN

I am a very independent, strong-willed woman. I am a chef, specializing in patisserie. I am an owner of a software/data analytics firm with global clients and an animal boarding facility. I am the mother of 6 children with one in heaven.

I work hard to improve life for my family and those around me, which is why I am expanding into my city. After I lost my daughter to suicide, I see the need to help our youth to grow in confidence and giving them a future to focus on and goals to achieve.

Growth in our city will define our coming decade. We need to pursue every county, state, and federal program that can help us get the financial means to expand our roads and infrastructure.

Adaptive sports and activities go beyond having fun. Giving kids with special needs the ability to participate can unite individuals but more specifically it helps them to feel empowered and see past their limitations.

I am here to improve our city in every way possible and to listen to the needs and concerns from those that live in our city.

SCOTT FERRE

I am excited for the opportunity to run for Eagle Mountain City Council and hope for the chance to serve the citizens of this great city. Eagle Mountain is my home and has been a great place to raise my family. I have spent my entire career working for a small business with my primary responsibilities revolving around helping customers build and develop their own businesses. I spend my time working with contractors, architects, engineers, factories, and at times city officials to help entrepreneurs build successful businesses. I also work on the staff of one of our vendors to teach and train operators and technicians to operate and maintain the machinery that is the core of their process. I will champion small businesses, property rights, and the rights of the individual. I will promote and protect the outdoor activities and spaces that make our city special. I will work to encourage development that will bring goods and services to Eagle Mountain that provide jobs and lessen the need to commute to adjacent communities. I will bring my experience in project management, problem solving, creative thinking and effective communication to continue to promote the upward trajectory of Eagle Mountain City.

JARED R GRAY
grayjar@gmail.com

Jared Gray has been an active and valuable member of Eagle Mountain. As a young person, he learned important skills while working on a farm at Cedar Valley Farms before Eagle Mountain City was even built. He saw the city grow from the beginning and has been actively involved in the community ever since.

Jared's involvement in the city extends to various boards within Eagle Mountain; including the Cemetery Board, Parks and Recreation Board, Youth Council, Planning Commission, and the esteemed Pony Express Events Committee, where he currently serves as President. Within this capacity, Jared effectively coordinates high-profile events such as the annual PRCA Rodeo, the Demolition Derby, and the EnduroCross.

Demonstrating unwavering commitment to his community, Jared has spearheaded initiatives to enhance public safety, resulting in the successful addition of new city police officers for two consecutive years. Moreover, he has been a strong advocate for securing funding to widen Pony Express Parkway, Eagle Mountain Boulevard, and the initiation of the Old Airport Road to SR-73. Through his vast experiences and steadfast leadership, Jared Gray epitomizes the ideal candidate for re-election to the Eagle Mountain City Council.

My husband Nathan and I have called Eagle Mountain home for 15 years, we've raised our children here. My commitment to responsible growth is rooted in my love for Eagle Mountain. I believe in preserving our city's unique character while meeting the needs of our growing population. With a focus on fiscal responsibility and thoughtful planning, we can ensure our infrastructure, transportation, and public services meet our community's needs.

I am dedicated to fostering prosperity and creating jobs by attracting new investments, and supporting local businesses. Professionally, I work tirelessly with the Eagle Mountain Chamber to foster a business-friendly environment that encourages entrepreneurship and innovation.

Transparency and accountability are my priority. I have advocated for making meetings and information more accessible and have actively involved residents in the decision-making process. You see me walking through neighborhoods or meeting over a soda to discuss your concerns.

As your neighbor, I share your concerns. My experience working with local businesses, combined with my public service background, make me a great advocate and resource for you. By electing me, you can trust that you are choosing a leader who will champion your interests and work tirelessly to ensure a
